Upcoming Workshop

1. Congregational Leadership from the Inside Out

September 29, 2017

9:00-4:00pm – Conrad Grebel, University of Waterloo

Cost: $100 + HST

Facilitator: Betty Pries

“The success of an interventions depends on the interior condition of the intervener” (William O’Brien). Betty Pries has reflected on this quote about 100 times, asking the question – Is this true? If it is, it could be read to say, “The success of a church depends on the interior conditions of its leadership.” How are we as leaders (whether paid or lay) attending to our interior journeys of faith, of healing and transformation? How do we mindfully support the congregations we are serving? This workshop will consider the gifts of Christian reflection and mediation for healthy church leadership.

L3 Overview

A team of L3 professionals stands behind each L3 consultant to aid in the quality of work offered. Members of our team lead from our foundational values: love, listen, lead. We commit to loving the people we serve. We seek to listen at all times for God’s leading and for the wisdom each person has to offer the conversation. We lead with integrity, humility, grace and courage.

In addition, we commit to engaging leaders, tailoring our interventions to meet the needs of each group with whom we work, thinking theologically about our work and maintaining high standards of excellence, continuous learning and innovation. L3 offers consulting, training, coaching, facilitation (congregational renewal, decision-making) and conflict resolution/mediation.
